FROM COOL EFFECT

"This project protects nearly 450,000 acres from deforestation. Since trees sequester carbon pollution, more trees = less CO₂. The Alto Mayo forest is twice the size of New York City but it's under threat from deforestation despite its protected status. This project provides technical assistance and advice on the ground to transform illegal loggers into organic coffee farmers and eco-entrepreneurs."

Cup of The Amazon

This project protects an area twice the size of New York City from deforestation by working with local communities to create new jobs from coffee and ecosystem services rather than logging.
